The President referred to the notice of the proposed amendments to Law 13. The Secretary said the amendments concerned the composition of the Council. The first two arose from the demise of the former Board of Trustees and the National Museum of Antiquities and Council's desire to establish close links with the new Royal Museum of Scotland. The third amendment sought to place all the Conveners of the four standing Committees on Council. The President reminded the meeting that the first two amendments had been discussed at the Anniversary Meeting. He then put each amendment to the vote and all were carried unanimously.

Law 13 will now read:

'The Council shall consist of the Office-bearers, the Conveners of the Programme, Publication, Research, and Finance and Administration Committees, a member of the Board of Trustees of the National Museums of Scotland who is also a Fellow of the Society (nominated by the Board of Trustees), the Director of the National Museums of Scotland, the Keeper of Archaeology and the Keeper of History and Applied Arts of the National Museums of Scotland, a representative of the Friends of the National Museums of Scotland (nominated by the governing body of the Friends), these last four to sit as Assessors, and twelve Fellows elected by the Society'.
