

7. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The project, undertaken by the staff of Headland Archaeology, was commissioned by CCG (Scotland) Ltd. The project was managed by Kirsty Dingwall. The fieldwork was carried out by Magnar Dalland, Aisling Fitzpatrick-Sinclair, Kim Gaunt, Asta Pavilionyte, Don Wilson and Genevieve Shaw. Illustrations were produced by Headland Archaeology graphics team, Caroline Norrman, Beata Wiczorek-Oleksy, Dunia Sinclair, Marc Zubia-Pons and Rafael Maya-Torcely.

Morag Cross would like to thank the ever-helpful staff of Edinburgh City Archives, namely Jennifer Hogg, Ashleigh Thompson and Vikki; Edinburgh Council Plan Store, Cockburn St; Diana Sproat, of AOC Archaeology for her information on Kinauld Tannery; Peter Stubbs, historian and curator of www.edinphoto.org.uk, for sharing his local knowledge; Iain Milne, librarian of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, and Prof Anthony Seaton, CBE, for their expertise on Victorian industrial diseases; to Alan Cross for his terminological creativity; Catherine Walker, Curator, War Poets Collection, Napier University, and Neil McLennan, Education Dept, Aberdeen University, for valuable help on Craiglockhart; Kathryn McKee, Special Collections Librarian, St John's College, Cambridge, for discussing Dr Rivers's portrait, and lastly, to Victoria Green, curator of the National Leather Collection, Northampton, for kindly sending bibliographic details.