

Art. X.—Precepts issued on the death of Henry Darnley, King of Scotland, for perfuming his body, and for providing a mourning-dress to Mary, Queen of Scots, on the occasion.—FEB. M.D. lxxvi.*

COMMUNICATED BY A. MACDONALD, Esq. F.S.S.A.

[Laid before the Society, March 8th 1824.]

HENRY DARNLEY.

On the 10th of February 1566, Henry Darnley was murdered in the house which belonged to Robert Balfour, provost of the Collegiate Church of St Mary, in the Kirk of Field. Two days after the murder, this precept (in the handwriting of the Earl of Huntly) was issued by order of the Queen, to Mr Robert Richardson, treasurer of Scotland, to pay £40 for perfuming the King's body.
