

8. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Tarbert Castle Trust would like to thank all the funders whose contributions made the excavation possible. These include the Heritage Lottery Fund, Historic Environment Scotland, Argyll and Bute Council, the Co-op, Tesco, and Cour Wind Farm (Scotland). The author would like to express his gratitude to all those who took part in the excavation. This includes all the members of the Tarbert Castle Trust who give up so much of their time looking after the castle and all the volunteers, school children and Guides who took part in the dig. Particular thanks go to Robert MacPhail for making my life a lot easier than it perhaps would have been and to Bob Smart for the drone images. We would also like to thank Mike Smith of FSC photography for kindly providing the images for Illustrations 3 and 5. The team from Historic Environment Scotland have as usual been helpful and professional throughout the excavation and post excavation process. Again, many thanks to Sheila Clerk for proofreading the initial report while Derek Hall would like to thank George Haggarty for discussing the fabric types and dating of the medieval pottery assemblage. The anonymous comments received through peer review prompted several improvements on the submitted draft, while any remaining errors are my own.
